Notes on Module Feedback

In the 'Core Likert-Scale Questions' section you will find your students' answers to the university's core survey statements. You will also see responses to School-level Likert scale questions, if these are in use in your area.

In the 'Free Text Comments' section you will find the comments left by your students for each question. If one or more questions do not appear, this means that no students answered these.

Reports are for internal use only. Module Leaders can, at their discretion, share the report with colleagues such as those on teaching teams, Programme Leaders, DSEs, or those from whom they wish to seek support. Please be aware, however, that student comments are not redacted and may contain sensitive information. This data must not be re-used beyond its intended purposes (eg. to identify areas of concern for students, to promote best practice, to monitor quality, and drive quality enhancement).

If you have questions, feedback or require support please direct this to TheLeedsPartnership@leeds.ac.uk.

In seminar, teachers discuss the questions with us together.
arbitration
The content is funny and useful.
I like the combination of lecture and seminar in this course very much, which helps me enrich my knowledge reserve and increase opportunities to communicate with other students.
Very good and interactive. Doctors are kind and patient.
I found the seminar discussions very helpful because we discussed many cases in detail. Although I did not contribute very much in class, listening to the discussion still helped me understand the issues more clearly. One case that particularly impressed me was the toy bear case, as it showed how arbitration can play an important role in commercial reality.
the assessment helps me a lot
The teacher is very patient to answer the academic questions nothing
enough discussing time
seminars are very good.
perfect
This module taught a wealth of knowledge
I really liked this module despite the subject's complexity. Both professors were excellent, and having them both involved in the seminars made the classes more engaging, interactive, and enjoyable. Their teaching styles complemented each other very well, and they explained difficult concepts in a way that made the module much easier to navigate and understand.
The best part were the workshops. It was truly enjoyable to be able to interact and discuss the concepts.

Everything is good.
Some cases are difficult to understand.
I am a student of intellectual property law, so this course is my elective. I'm not as good as commercial law and economic law students . I'm glad that the teacher wrote a long feedback on my midterm homework, which helped me revise the outline and better complete the course thesis.
I do not have any major suggestions for improvement, as I found the course very well-structured and helpful. The case-based seminar discussions and essay planning guidance were both very useful. Overall, I really enjoyed the course.

If participation and responses are required from every student during discussions, students may feel more engaged and be encouraged to prepare in advance.

Maybe some group presentation activity could be added to increase the level of discussion and communication.
